Lewis Sees Chance Of Peace Conference

COAL STRIKE SITUATION AT A GLANCE
(By the Associated Press)

John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers, announced today that he expects to see a peace conference of states in the central competitive field.

Indiana operators express willingness to join conference involving central field.

More coal handled since government began efforts to stimulate production.

Frank Farrington, Illinois miners' president, rescinded call for state convention at Peoria next week to consider a separate agreement. Illinois sub-president loyal to John L. Lewis, predicted Lewis would oust Farrington if plan was carried out.

Federal authorities expect state governors to set up machinery to co-operate in priority plan and maintain equitable distributions and fair prices.

British miners consider attitude toward shipments to America.

New York longshoremen may refuse to handle imported coal.

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—(By the Associated Press)—John L. Lewis, head of the miners' union, said here this afternoon that he had every reason to believe that an interstate joint conference of the central competitive field will be arranged within a few days.

Mr. Lewis dictated the following statement to newspaper men:

"It is undoubtedly true that to all purposes and effect the mine workers have won their present strike and it is almost universally recognized in industrial and financial circles throughout the country that no wage reductions can be applied in the mining industry.

"It only remains for an interstate joint conference to be convened in order to permit of the immediate negotiation of a new wage agreement. This is the only way by which a settlement can be made. There will be no district or separate settlements.

"I have every reason to believe that an interstate joint conference of the central competitive fields will be arranged within a few days. Such an arrangement will permit a resumption of mining and relief to embarrassed industries and a suffering public."

It was pointed out by union leaders that all district presidents of the central competitive fields, which include Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Western Pennsylvania, are here except Frank Farrington, of Illinois.

Claim Coal Will Be $25 A Ton
NEW YORK, July 27.—With coal dealers here predicting that coal will cost $25 a ton this winter with substitutes likely unless the strike is settled or the government steps in and regulates prices, a new angle developed after a meeting of officers of the longshoremen's union where the question of handling coal from England was discussed. Anthony J. Chopek, here, declined to indicate whether a plan of action had been decided upon.

Coal dealers said that public utilities are supplied for a short period as gas and electric companies, but with no new supplies coming in, anxiety is developing. Dealers refuse to quote prices except at that of delivery.

Barricaded Insane Man Surrenders To Officials

HINTON, W. VA., July 27.—(By the Associated Press)—John Fredeking, the insane man who barricaded himself in his house and for thirteen days resisted the efforts of deputy sheriffs and state police to arrest him after he had killed one man and wounded four others, this morning appeared at the front door, threw up his hands and asked for a drink of water.

Two troopers, who with other officers have resorted to every known means short of firing the house, to dislodge Fredeking, stepped up to the door, got him the water he craved, and then led him to the county jail. He refused to answer their questions and appeared to be dazed. Physicians were summoned from the Hinton hospital, where they had been treating the men wounded in the firing of the past days, and dressed a bullet wound in Fredeking's right shoulder and another injury in his right arm and hand.

Dawn of the thirteenth day of resistance, found John Fredeking, still firing shots at state troopers from his bullet-riddled home.

Amazed at the tireless energy of Fredeking, who in addition to killing one, shot four others, the men who laid siege to the house, had abandoned immediate hope of starving the man into submission.

Each attempt to batter down a door or climb through a window, was met by a volley from within.

Fredeking, according to his father, has been mentally deranged for 15 years. His condition suddenly became worse 13 days ago. When Lou Matty, a prohibition officer, attempted to enter, he was shot and died soon afterwards. Several days later, with the house surrounded, Earl Hope gained entrance and he too was shot. His condition is critical. Two others sustained bullet wounds.

Last night a tear gas bomb was hurled into the house, but Fredeking appeared in another room and escaped any ill effects.

Ruth And Pipp Clash

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 27.—It was reported today that Babe Ruth and Wallie Pipp came to blows during yesterday's Browns-Yankees game, while the New York players were on the bench during the sixth inning. Neither player showed any signs of the reported encounter, however, and both finished the game in their positions.

When asked about the incident, Manager Huggins replied, "There were no injuries, whoever had the argument."

Both Ruth and Pipp told the Associated Press this morning that the reported encounter was "only a little argument" and that they had agreed not to say anything about it.

Postal officials said there was no way of estimating the loss.

RAILROAD OFFICIAL'S THUMB BLOWN OFF

CHICAGO, July 27.—Charles D. Sigler, assistant general manager of the Delaware, Lackawanna and Western railroad, reported to police today that explosive placed in a bottle of milk on his front porch blew off his right thumb when he started to carry the bottle into the house.

Sigler, who is 61 years old, said the incident occurred yesterday morning. It was not reported to the police until today.

Plot Of Huge Bootleg Ring Is Revealed

NEW YORK, July 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The embargo recently placed on liquor importations by the government was attributed by the New York Tribune today to a successful plot by a huge bootleg combine by which "liquor warehouses which had bulged with imported wines and whiskeys" now bulge with barrels of water.

"Lack of convicting evidence alone," says the newspaper, "prevents the government from officially revealing one of the biggest liquor scandals since prohibition."

Bootleg rings, the article says, are suspected of having corrupted government employees in various branches of the revenue service in a successful plot to divert millions of dollars worth of liquor importations held in bonded warehouses.

From August to the end of December last year, $5,000,000 worth of liquors were imported and stored in government warehouses, mostly along the Atlantic seaboard and during the twelve months of 1921 liquor importations, the story says, more than doubled those of 1920. Since permits to withdraw the liquors were necessary, no alarm was felt over the incoming flood of whiskey and wine, but the bootleggers are alleged to have waived the use of permits and developed the practice of watering their visible stock.

Under the law if anybody wants to import liquor, store it in a warehouse then change his mind and export the stuff back whence it came, nobody has violated any section of the statutes intended to make the country alcoholicly arid, and if the changing of wine or whiskey to water is carried out then the weaker fluid is what goes back to wet countries, while the stronger goes down the throats of Americans, so the story says. Until a few months ago it was understood that bootleggers used to store their stocks for ostensible transshipment to China, Mexico or countries with similar attitudes towards drink, and then divert the liquor during rail shipment in this country. But a court decision held these transshipments to be illegal, under the Volstead law. From this it is said resulted the water substitution.

Hope Of Peace In Rail Tie-Up Is Revived

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Having presented the views of the striking railroad shopmen to President Harding at a morning conference, B. M. J. Jewell and other strike leaders returned to the White House this afternoon for another conference, at which it was believed President Harding might present some sort of a proposition designed to settle the strike.

RAIL STRIKE DEVELOPMENTS IN BRIEF

(By The Associated Press)

President Harding's conferences with railroad executives and union leaders revive hopes for early settlement of the rail walk-out. Efforts to negotiate separate peace by the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul road ends without results at Seattle, while parleys between the Baltimore & Ohio and its striking workers are continued at Baltimore.

Rail officials again asserted that passenger and freight service was practically normal, and added that increased recruiting was building up new shop forces.

Union leaders maintained that the walk-out of shopmen still was 100 per cent effective, insisting there had been no return to work by the strikers.

WASHINGTON, July 27.—(By The Associated Press)—The White House again today became the center of developments in the rail strike and the focus of efforts toward peace. President Harding meeting in conference first with T. Dennis Cuyler, chairman of the Association of Railway Executives, and then with the strike leaders, headed by B. M. Jewell, who reached Washington early in the day from Chicago.

Mr. Jewell and his colleagues went into conference with the president at 11 o'clock shortly after Mr. Cuyler had concluded an hour and a half's discussion of the strike situation with Mr. Harding.

Mr. Cuyler on leaving the White House said he would present the viewpoint of the railroad managements and that he would remain in Washington to await the pleasure of the president, and that there had been no new development in the situation.

Mr. Cuyler indicated that he would return to the White House for another conference after the president had discussed the situation with the strike leaders. Pressed for an opinion as to whether seniority was the sole stumbling block in the way of settlement, he said he had seen no statement from Mr. Jewell on the point and could not therefore say whether that was the position taken by the unions.

The strike leaders held a brief conference at their hotel before going to the White House, the heads of the six international unions meeting with William H. Johnston, president of the International Association of Machinists, another of the labor organizations involved in the strike. Mr. Jewell participated in the conference only for a few minutes, just before it adjourned.

All of the strike leaders maintained absolute silence regarding their visit to Washington prior to seeing the president, even refusing to say whether they came at the invitation of Mr. Harding or upon their own initiative. The general belief, however, was that Secretary of Labor Davis during his conference with Mr. Jewell last week at Moonbeach, Ill., had suggested the leaders come to Washington and that they had acted upon that suggestion, after Mr. Davis had acquainted the president with it.

Union chiefs who conferred with the president in addition to Mr. Jewell and Mr. Johnston included Timothy Healy, president of the firemen's organization; J. W. Kline, president of the blacksmiths; J. A. Franklin, president of the boilermakers; M. F. Ryan, president of the carmen; James Burns, vice president of the sheet metal workers' union, and Edward Evans, vice president of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers.

On leaving the White House, after an hour and a half's conference, Mr. Jewell and his assistants said they would meet again with Mr. Harding at 2:30 p. m. They added they did not know whether any others besides themselves would participate in the afternoon conference.

Mr. Jewell, acting as spokesman for the group, said the meeting conference was confined to a general discussion of the strike situation. The labor leaders endeavored to give the president their view as to the controversy, Mr. Jewell said, declining to be drawn out by questions as to details of the conference discussion.

CINCINNATI, O., July 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Shops of the Chesapeake & Ohio railroad at Covington, Ky., opened today with a full force of men, it was announced by W. F. Taylor, superintendent. MONTREAL, July 27.—Canadian shopmen employed by the Grand Trunk railroad are being practically forced to declare an immediate strike because that system is determined to continue repairing engines and cars sent to its shops by lines in the United States whose repairmen are on strike, said an announcement by R. J. Tallon, president of division No. 4, railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor.

Suspect Held For Kidnapping

STUBENVILLE, O., July 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Theodore Phillips, arrested at Elizabeth, Pa., last night in connection with the kidnapping of Ralph Monaco, 18-year-old son of Oliver Monaco, wealthy Adena coal man, was due to arrive here in company with Deputy Sheriff William Houser this afternoon. Phillips was seen in Adena on the day of the kidnapping and followed Monaco to Cadiz in an auto bearing a Pennsylvania license. He has refused to talk on the kidnapping, but a full statement will likely be secured if he can be brought into this state.

Young Monaco has not been found.

COAL MINERS HOLD CONFERENCES

PHILADELPHIA, July 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Conferences of international officers of the United Mine Workers and district leaders of the anthracite and bituminous coal fields of Pennsylvania, Ohio, and Indiana on the strike situation continued here today.

Information was given by John Hessler, president of the Indiana miners, that definite action looking to a joint conference of operators and miners representatives in Pennsylvania, Ohio, Illinois and Indiana, might be taken today. Mr. Hessler said he felt confident such a conference would be called at an early date and that the strike would be settled on terms satisfactory to the miners within thirty days thereafter.

HUGH HIGGINS AND BRIDE ARE PINNED UNDER MACHINE ENROUTE TO THIS CITY

Caught under an overturned car at the bottom of a thirty foot embankment and within reach of water of a creek from their positions under the car, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Higgins, Jr., and his cousin, Harold Oakes, of Oelwein, Iowa, had to fire six shots from a revolver to attract persons to come to their assistance. The accident happened at night near Waldron, Ind., while the three were on their way to this city from Oelwein. Mr. and Mrs. Higgins are here for a visit with his home folks while young Oakes has been taken to his home in Iowa. Oakes was driving the touring car which was owned by Mr. Higgins. Oakes was coming along to join his mother and brother and sister who were visiting here.

All of a sudden something went wrong with the steering gear near Waldron, the machine leaving the road, plunged down, the bank and turned over at the bottom of the embankment, the three occupants being caught underneath.

They carried a revolver in the machine and after waiting for some time for someone to come to their aid fired the gun six times in an effort to attract someone. After waiting for three hours nearby residents came to investigate. When the alarm was finally given a big crowd of people gathered to help rescue the three young people who were made comfortable in nearby homes.

Local relatives were notified and Mrs. Manuel Oakes and daughter, Miss Edna Oakes and son, Paul Oakes and wife, who were here for a visit left at once for their home and enroute stopped at Waldron to pick up Harold. He suffered serious bruises about the chest and is thought to have suffered internal injuries.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Higgins came on to Portsmouth by train and are visiting his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Higgins of 710 Seventh street. Mrs. Higgins suffered an injury to a blood vessel in her ear and Mr. Higgins escaped with bruises about the body.

A Remarkable New Cord Tire at a Popular Price

The new Goodyear
Cross-Rib Tread Cord

Here is a big, sturdy, long-wearing new tire built to satisfy the buyer on every point of mileage, quality and price.

It is designed especially for the man who wants the essential advantages of cord tire performance at the lowest possible price.

It is designed to offer the buyer a quality product at a price even lower than he has formerly paid for a "long discount" tire. It has a different tread from the famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread Cord—a new tread with a deep, clean-cut, cog-like pattern—and its selling price ranges from 20 to 25% less.

This new tire is the Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord.

Like the All-Weather Tread Cord it is liberally oversize in all straight-side sizes, the 4 1/2-inch tire, for example, actually measuring nearly 5 inches.

Like the All-Weather Tread Cord, its foundation is genuine high-grade long-staple cotton.

Like the All-Weather Tread Cord, it embodies the efficient group-ply construction, a Goodyear patent.

Like the All-Weather Tread Cord, it is the product of an experienced company which has a world-wide reputation to safeguard.

Look at the prices of the new Goodyear Cross-Rib Tread Cord, listed below.

Compare these prices with net prices you are asked to pay for "long discount" tires of unknown reputation and value.

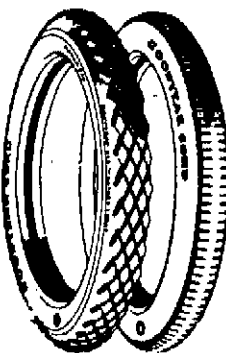

Why take a chance on such tires?—you know it doesn't pay.

ALLEGED BOLD ATTEMPT TO KIDNAP YOUNG GIRL AT SOUTH PORTSMOUTH

RIPLEY, O., July 27 — Miss Kathryn Swisher, the 12-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Swisher of Ripley, had a narrow escape from being kidnapped at South Portsmouth, Ky., last Saturday. The little girl was at the depot with her father, grandmother and uncle, E. L. Hiatt, awaiting westbound C. and O. train No. 7 to come to Ripley. There was a crowd of over 400 persons at the depot. Just before No. 7 whistled an unknown blonde approached the little girl and said: "Your sister, Helen Hiatt, is across the river and wants you to come back and spend another week with her—there she is, standing on the bank across the river in Portsmouth." Katherine said: "I will go and tell Papa that I am going back to Helen's." But the man objected saying, "No, you'll miss the ferry if you don't hurry; take these two nickels and hurry to the boat." He rushed the child to the ferryboat and told her that he would cross in a skiff. Kathryn got to thinking about the matter as the boat crossed and began crying. A lady whose home was near the residence of Mrs. Hiatt on Scioto Trail and who knew Kathryn, saw she was in tears and asked what was the trouble. Kathryn then told the lady all about what the strange man had said and pointed him out in the skiff out in the river. The man saw them pointing him out and immediately rowed to the Kentucky shore and disappeared. The lady friend then took charge of Kathryn, and took her to her sister, Mrs. Hiatt's home. This narrow escape of Miss Swisher should be a warning to girls to never speak to strangers when traveling. For had this lady friend not been on the boat Kathryn's fate would likely have never been known.

CHILICOTHE, O., July 27—Milton J. Scott has been elected cashier of the Valley Savings bank to succeed John H. Blackner, resigned. Mr. Scott has wired his resignation as postmaster to Washington and asked that he be relieved from that duty by July 31st, if possible.

Scott has been connected with the bank for fifteen years and did not sever his relations with the institution when he took the postmastership. John H. Blackner has been in the banking business 42 years and may retire from active business. He also resigned as a director in the bank and disposed of his stock.

California's Tragedies

Enough good printers' ink and newspaper space has been wasted on the Hollywood tragedies of Arbuckle and Taylor to put across a national advertising campaign for something useful and beneficial to the people as a nation.

There is satisfaction in knowing, however, that they are quite far away and we do not get the full effect. We are in about the same position in respect to the California tragedies as the catalog house to its customers. One catalog house man said he did not care how much his customers kicked on the quality or fitting of the shoes he sold them as long as they were far enough away that he didn't get the full force, and he only expected to sell a customer one pair anyhow.

I would like to sell you one pair but with the idea that they are going to fit, please and wear so well that they will bring you back again, and believe me if you men want a quiet tip get your feet into that better kind of palm beach oxfords for these hot days, —comfort and service in every pair. A trial proves the worth.

The TATTOOED ARM

Isabel Ostrander

BEGIN HERE TODAY

What horrible and mysterious power was forcing the three Drake brothers,

HOBERT, Wall Street broker,

ROGER, eminent scientist, and

ANDREW, recently returned from Australia, to place themselves in ridiculous situations? Some power had forced Hobart to deliver a mock address in the public square.

Roger to burlesque a scientific address and Andrew to sit on the parlor floor and play with toys.

The three appear terror-stricken and without their knowledge

PATRICIA DRAKE, daughter of Hobart, secures

OWEN MILES, detective sergeant, and his colleague,

SCOTTIE MCCREARY, to investigate. Miles is employed as a houseman and Scottie as gardener. Following a series of mysterious events, Patricia suddenly disappears—an event which Miles cannot understand as he and Patricia were in each other's confidence. Possibly the attempt of her spinster aunt,

MISS JERUSA DRAKE, to break up a love affair with

RICHARD KEMP, has been the cause. Miles is suddenly summoned by Hobart Drake.

"Tried to catch the spirit kettle when the table tilted and the blazing alcohol ran up my sleeve!"

He groaned in spite of himself and seizing a serviette, he wrapped it about his injured arm. "Don't put your hand on that stuff like an ass!"

"Very good, sir."

When this was accomplished Miles sought Scottie and found the latter chuckling to himself.

"What's the joke? Did you see Miss Hawks armed for conquest?"

"I did not," Scottie still smiled broadly. "I'm thinking of the march the young people have taken on their families. Dick brought the girl back as he promised but she not 'Miss Patricia' any more; they bundled old Higgs on the running board and made for the minister's house before they left Freeland and it is young Mrs. Kemp who has come home."

"I'm glad of it," Miles said after a pause.

"There comes Roger Drake up the drive from the gate," he continued.

"He's a sick man and no mistake!"

The scientist was walking more steadily than when he had left the house but slowly, and he paused every few steps to rest.

"Excuse me, sir, but may I help you?" Miles asked as he hurried forward. "I saw you coming and I thought that you might perhaps feel a little weak still."

Miles became aware of the extraneous inward agitation of the man.

Roger leaned his weight heavily upon the younger man, who could feel the thin fingers closing about his elbow like hands of steel. The scientist summoned his remaining strength to negotiate the steps of the veranda and Hobart Drake himself opened the front door.

"What is this?" he exclaimed as he hastened to support his brother on the other side.

"Hobart!" With unexpected vigor

the weak man thrust them aside with a sweeping gesture of his long arms and stood erect. "Hobart, I have found out who it is! I know—I know—the necrosis!"

His voice had thickened oddly and the last word ended in a choking cry

as he watered and then suddenly pitched forward on his face.

Miss Drake's startled exclamation from the staircase was lost in Ho-bart's sharp command:

"Don't try to lift him, William;

turn him over—Great heavens! He has had a stroke!"

The body turned rigidly beneath their hands and Roger Drake lay staring widely up at the ceiling. The left side of his face twisted into a hideously grotesque mask, the arm crooked and leg drawn up in a manner there could be no mistaking.

Miss Drake swept down to kneel beside him, but Andrew brushed her roughly aside and descended in reckless leaps.

"Is it paralysis, Hobart? Shall I phone the doctor? Can he speak?"

His ruddy face had paled and his voice was grave and shaken.

"The doctor, by all means, as quickly as you can get him here!"

Hobart responded.

For an hour all was excitement while the stricken man was carried to his room and placed in bed. Carter admitted the physician and the detective was able to catch snatches of his phrases.

"In these cases, nothing—Possibly in a day or so, possibly in ten, unless, of course, another stroke—only absolute quiet and—look in again tonight."

Hobart had established himself as nurse and although Miss Drake demurred, she was for once overruled and only permitted to take his place while her brother descended to snatch a hasty life in the dining room. Miles hovered about in the hall just outside the sick room, beset with the question which haunted his mind.

While he pondered, Miss Drake appeared suddenly in the doorway and seeing him, beckoned.

"William, I must go downstairs for a moment. Will you come in and sit beside Mr. Roger?"

Secretly thanking his lucky stars that he had been at hand, Miles entered and seated himself beside the still form outstretched upon the bed.

The instant Miss Drake's footsteps had died away the detective bent forward:

"Mr. Roger?" "I am here to help

you. If you realize what I am saying close your right!"

A wave of exultation swept over him. The eye-lid quivered and slowly, flutteringly, it closed!

"Good—Now, sir, I can't take your message to your brother for you, the thing you were about to tell him when you were overcome, but do you want to see him? Can he guess the name you were trying to say?"

Miles waited but the eye stared unblinking, although a spreading moisture had come into it and the pupil seemed to enlarge and darken with the effort at expression.

"Is there something you think I can do?"

The eye closed, more quickly this time.

"Do you want anything? Is it in this room?"

The lid remained open but the eye itself moved toward the right as though striving to see through the blank wall beside which the bed had been placed.

Beyond the wall was the locked door behind which lay the relics of the past in the impotent guardianship of the woman centuries dead.

"You mean your storeroom, don't you, sir?—You know that your belongings in here have been searched?

—Do you know also that the lock of your storeroom has been tampered with?"

Miles drew a deep breath for at each question the eye had winked rapidly and an eager glint had shot across its dulled expanse.

"The room has been ransacked, sir. Did you know that?"

The eye widened and into it came a look of such utter despair that Miles obeyed a sudden impulse.

"I found a new key in the lock and the door swinging open. The only thing that hasn't been touched is that long box that looks like a mummy case. It's safe still. I can fix that door so it can't be opened again by anyone. Shall I do it, sir?"

The eye winked spasmodically and rested on his for an instant while a single tear welled forth and, rolled down the waxen cheek.

CHAPTER XVI

THE next day was a busy one. At daybreak Miles presented himself at Miss Drake's door with cue side of his face convincingly swollen by means of an improvised cotton plumper which he had inserted inside his cheek.

"It's my tooth, ma'am," he explained. "I just can't stand it any longer and the milkman will give me a lift to the station if you can spare me to run to town and see my dentist."

Permission was granted and he was soon rattling toward in the early train. On arrival he went straight to Headquarters and then journeyed uptown to an actors' agency, whose proprietor was an old acquaintance.

"You ain't givin' me much to go on, Owen," he complained when the visitor's errand had been explained.

"A full figured blonde, you say, and youngish. Calls herself Maizie?"

"I'll do what I can for you."

It was not a great distance from the theatrical district to the digi-flist Archaeological Museum where Miles found Professor Nigel Lorton.

Spies before him on his desk was the spurious papyrus taken from the wrappings of the Peruvian mummy and which the detective had entrusted to Zorn to deliver on the previous day.

The old professor removed his spectacles and tapped his knee thoughtfully with them.

"My dear Sergeant," he began at last while the other waited expectantly. "This document is, as you assumed in your note, an imitation in texture and symbol of the ancient Egyptian and whether it be a hoax or not I confess that it is the most remarkable record it has ever been my privilege to examine."

Miss Dolly Wise

She is here to answer any and all questions concerning love, matrimony, troubles, woes, etiquette, etc. Inquiries should be addressed to Miss Dolly Wise, care The Daily Times, Portsmouth, Ohio.

Dear Miss Wise—I am 23 and have been going with a girl the same age for eight months. I have confined my attention to her, giving up all my girl friends, still she persists in going with old acquaintances once a week or so. I tell her she eventually will have to give them up if we get married. She says they are old friends and it would not look right to cut them off all at once. I gave her a diamond for her birthday. Some of her friends think it an engagement ring and sometimes she says it is and again she denies it. When meeting any of her friends, she will talk and chat with them and leave me standing, giving me little or no attention. Some of my friends tell me she is making a fool of me. I spoke to her about marriage and she prefers to wait a year or so longer.—DOUBTFUL.

The girl does not care for the way a girl should care for the man she hoped to marry. When a girl loves a man she is not the least bit interested in the company of any other man, neither is she anxious to postpone the wedding day. When a girl is engaged it does not mean that she should not be friendly when she meets her boy friends, but there is no excuse for her not being courteous to the man to whom she is engaged.

Miss Dolly Wise—What will take varnish stain out of a dark blue crepe meteor dress?
A. B.
Pure spirits of turpentine will remove the stain. Also here is another method: Lay a many-folded sheet on table and lay the stained part of the material on that, and rubbing soap on a tooth brush dip the brush in warm water and wash the varnish away. The sheet absorbing the water when the varnish is extracted move the material to a dry part of the sheet, rinse the brush and with clear water wash the soap away. Rub with a dry towel both sides of the material and hang up to dry. If the varnish is long drying rub with turpentine and wash with soap and water, or if the colors are delicate wash with warm water alone. Chloroform may be used instead of turpentine.

Dear Miss Wise—My husband will not buy me any clothes and he earns a large salary. He tells me he married me to cook for him and to keep the house clean.

DISGUSTED WITH LIFE
There is no excuse for a woman living with a man like your husband. The court is maintained to uphold law and protect women.

Dear Dolly—I have been engaged to a boy, 21, more than a month. One night he gave me a letter to read. The letter showed he had written to a girl before. Do you think if he loved me he would write to other girls? SUNSHINE SUSIE

If he loves you and is engaged to marry you why should he be interested in writing to other girls? Even if he does love you the best, is it fair to the other girls for him to encourage them to correspond with him? Ask him if he has any objections to your writing to your boy friends.

I have the address of two girls who would like to get a place to stay with an elderly couple.

Dear Miss Wise—Would you please be kind enough to request a kind reader to give you a copy of The Renown Hobo Poem entitled "The Face On The Bar Room Floor."
J. C.

Dear Miss Wise—This is my first time to write to you and I trust you will answer. I was engaged to a fellow to be married, and I broke the engagement, and he took the ring. Do you think it was right? Or was he just stinky, or else did not love me? I am sorry for what I did and would go back and ask him to forgive me, but when I think of the ring I can't. WORRIED GIRL

The ring was the sign of your engagement. When you broke it, it was your place to return it to the man you were engaged to. I think you were the selfish one for wanting to keep the ring.

Dear Miss Wise—I married a divorced woman with one child. Her former husband pays her $5 a week for the support of the child. She gets the money and puts it in the bank for the child. I support the child and pay $8.25 a month for an extra room for the child. Is she doing right or am I doing wrong in asking her to use some of the money to help keep up our home? F. M.

The wife is doing wrong and the court would cease paying her the money for the upkeep of the child if it were shown that she did not spend the money for that purpose. It is an injustice to the father of the child and to the stepfather as well. The father would not want another man to support his child and the stepfather should not be expected to support the child if it is not necessary to do so.

Dear Dolly—I have been a reader of the Portsmouth Times for 20 years, and I am coming to you for some information. How many miles is Buckeye City from Columbus? What is the population of Buckeye City and what is the name of their daily paper?

VIRGINIA GUY
It is about 60 miles from Columbus to Buckeye City, which has a population of 310.

Dolly Wise—Will you kindly give the direct route to Athens, Ohio, by auto, and are the roads good?

So extra delicious With fresh fruits

No other food has such an appeal on a hot day as Kellogg's Corn Flakes! They win fickle appetites, they satisfy hungry fancies! As an extra-summer taste thrill, eat Kellogg's with the luscious fresh fruit now in season. Such a diet is not only ideal from a health standpoint, but it is refreshing!

You can eat Kellogg's Corn Flakes liberally at any meal because they digest easily. Let the children have all they want!

Insist upon Kellogg's Corn Flakes in the RED and GREEN package that bears the signature of W. K. Kellogg, originator of Corn Flakes. None are genuine without it!

MARRIAGE A LA MODE

Some people have all the luck—among the Caciques, it is the chiefs. They may have as many wives as they want, but the common tribesmen may have only one.

However, should a man's wife prove to be unsatisfactory he may always repudiate her for the slightest cause and is then at liberty to try again.

The hardest task in a young mother's day

IN the young mother's schedule nothing recurs with more annoying regularity than the daily washing. Most stupendous of all this are the mountains of diapers.

No way has yet been found to save a mother all the work of washing diapers, but there is a way of saving her the hardest part.

Tomorrow, or the next time you wash diapers, do them this way: Let them soak for an hour or more in big, lasting suds of Rinso and lukewarm water. Then rinse thoroughly, getting all the soap out.

Rinso is a new kind of soap—so pure and perfectly balanced that it gets diapers spotlessly clean without any rubbing. The mild Rinso suds soak the dirt right out of the fabric without weakening a single fibre.

Don't wash diapers the long, hard way another time. Save yourself the wearisome rubbing which is such a drain on a young mother's strength.

Rinso is made by the makers of Lux—the largest soap makers in the world. It comes in two sizes—the regular size and the big new package. Get Rinso today—at grocery and department stores everywhere. Lever Bros. Co., Cambridge, Mass.

NOTE: In hard water it takes from 3/4 to 1 package of Rinso to a tub to make good suds. In very hard water you will need from 1 1/2 to 2 packages to a tub to get the big lasting suds that loosen all the dirt.

patch as fast as his legs would carry him to get the fairy doctor and Nancy stayed to comfort Mrs. Tater-Bug, whom she found after a careful search in a cozy leaf house.

"Oh!" exclaimed Mrs. Tater-Bug, dashing some drops on her eyes poor Timmy! I went out for a minute to ask Mrs. Beetle if she knew what the green stuff was Farmer Smith was sprinkling around, and left Timmy in his crib as nice as anything.

"But when I came back, something awful had happened. Timmy's nice stripes had turned to black spots and he's red all over. I'm afraid it's either chicken-pox or measles." Just then the fairy doctor arrived. He pulled down the covers and looked at Timmy this way and that and every which way.

"H'm," he said wisely. "H'm! I'd say it's a case of mistaken identity, Mrs. Tater-Bug."

"Oh, how dreadful!" shrieked Timmy's mother. "Will he die, doctor?"

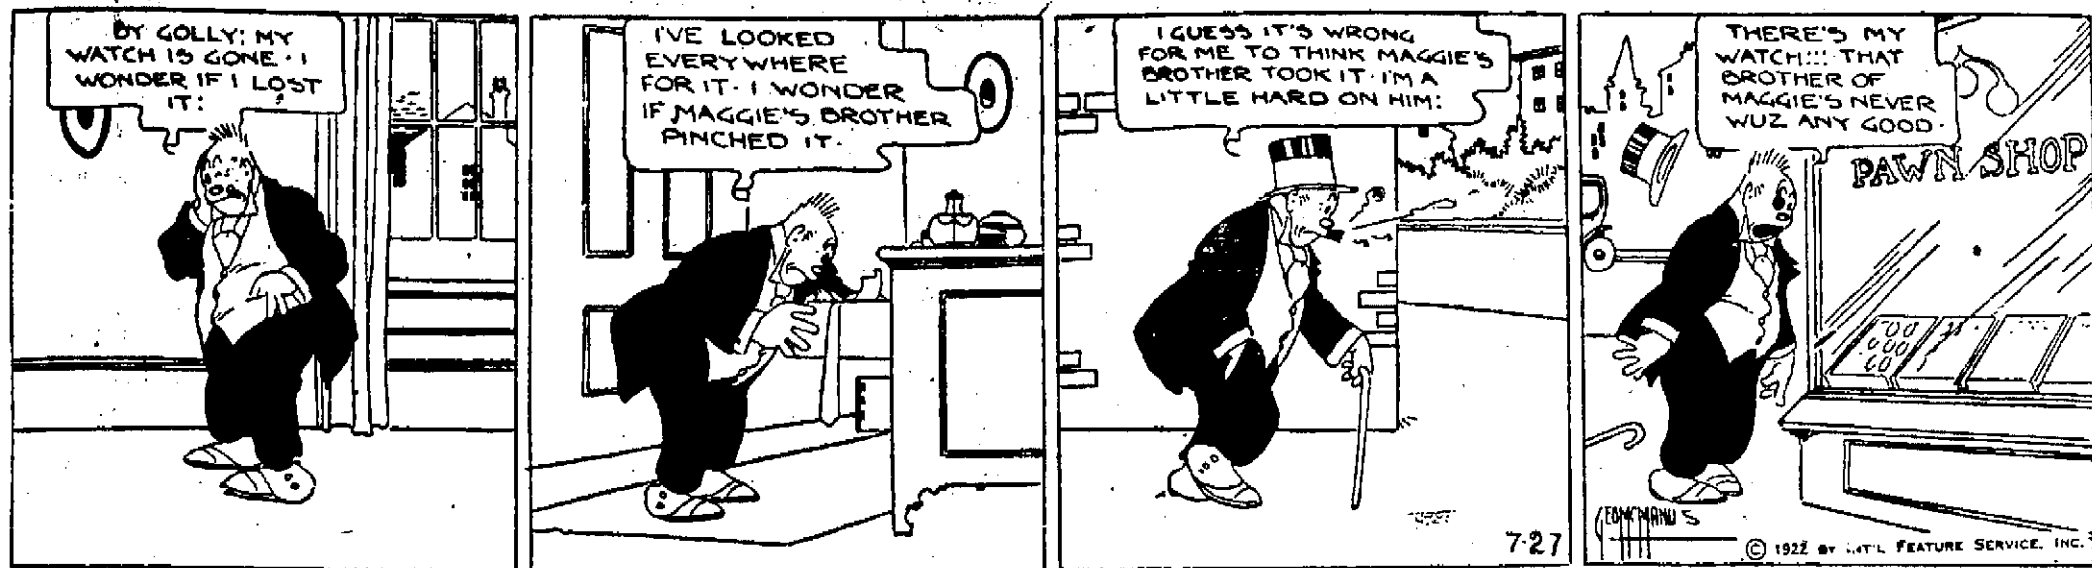

"Not unless he's out eating the green stuff Farmer Smith sprinkled around. This isn't Timmy at all. It's Lily Lady-Bug, who's crawled in here to take a nap."

Republican Candidate for Nomination of

CLERK OF COURTS

Believing that he is thoroughly qualified to fill the office of Clerk of Courts, Mr. Carson is appealing for support because of his fitness. He is a high school graduate, teacher in the public schools, has had thirteen years business experience and for the past three years has been connected with the Portsmouth College of Business. Mr. Carson has never before sought preferment at the hands of his party, although his Republicanism has never been questioned. He is, perhaps, one of Portsmouth's best known young men—is aggressive, self-reliant and those who have had any dealings with him have ever found him to be a thorough gentleman. He asks a thorough investigation as to his character and ability.

Raid Made; Alleged Home Brew Seized

Fixing Camp Cars For Use Of Strike Breakers

ASHLAND, Ky., July 27.—Camp cars are being outfitted and made ready today at the C. and O. shops here for occupancy by men who will arrive here within a few days to take positions vacated by the shopmen when they went on strike nearly four weeks ago.

The cars have bedroom and dining facilities and will permit the men to work in the shops and live within a few feet from their work. This practice has been put into effect at all points of the C. and O. lines, railroad officials here say.

Forty men went to work at Lexington yesterday, according to J. B. Harris, superintendent of the Ashland and Big Sandy divisions of the C. and O. These men are being housed in camp cars located in the yards and near the shops in which they are employed.

Cars are being placed in readiness at Russell, Paintsville and Shelby to provide accommodations for the men who are expected. Local railroad officials declared today that as soon as the cars are made ready, the men will be sent here.

Forty bottles of alleged home brew were seized by prohibition enforcement officers when they visited the soft drink establishment conducted in the Washington Hotel bar by Louis Distel Wednesday night, according to a statement made from the sheriff's office, which said that the raid was the alleged receipt of tips that the alleged home brew was being sold over the bar at twenty-five cents a bottle.

No arrests were made and no formal charges have been filed against Distel or any of his employees pending the result of an analysis of the confiscated fluid.

He never got any relief until he used Nerv-Worth and then he felt better before he had finished the first bottle. One has only to stop Police Officer Vile, of Morgantown, W. Va., and ask him if he knows of anything to give relief in a bad case of stomach trouble, so bad that a man couldn't sleep. "That's me!" couldn't until I got Nerv-Worth. I had tried all sorts of medicines, made three trips to Hot Springs, and one to Florida. My stomach pained me constantly; nothing I ate agreed with me. Now I eat anything I want and sleep like a log. Could anyone ask for any stronger proof. All we can say is try a bottle and see for yourself what it will do for you. The druggist where you buy it is authorized to give you money back if you are not satisfied with the results of the first bottle. You can buy Nerv-Worth at any first class drug store for one dollar a bottle. It is always on sale in this city at the Fisher & Stretch drug store. C. & O. Switchman Killed

ASHLAND, Ky., July 27.—Leonard Callihan, 37, C. and O. switchman, Austin Hill, was killed instantly at 8:15 o'clock last night in the C. and O. yards near Twenty-eighth street when his neck was broken by a fall from the top of a box car, from which he had been knocked by the force of a collision between the engine of his train and a cut of cars.

The engine, which was hauling the train of sixty-seven cars through the front avenue yards, was in charge of Engineer J. B. Johnson. He said that the collision was caused by some one leaving a switch open into a track on which a cut of cars was sitting. The train ran into the cars and the impact of the collision knocked the switchman from his place on top of the cars.

He fell about fifteen feet away from the track, near another track and it is believed that his neck struck a rail, breaking the neck and causing instant death.

GAMES THIS WEEK
Thursday, July 27—Vulcan Last vs. Excelsior.
Friday, July 28—Excelsior vs. Central Labor.

The rejuvenated N. & W. aggregation shot full of pep by the appearance of several new performers in their line-up, achieved a handsome victory over the Central Labor team at the Findlay street arena last evening. The cellar champions not only easily annexing the combat, but humiliated the league leaders as well by sweeping them with a pretty count of 9 to 0. The final count was 9 to 0 and the result was never in doubt for a brace of tallies in the second session and they counted four more runs in the final round when they attacked the output of the Ripley lad with much vigor, Bauer whacking a triple with the bases populated and registering himself on a wild pitch.

Much of the credit for the victory must be given to Mr. Henry Bending, sturdy young right-hander, who gets his maul at O'way. The recruit, making his first appearance on the big line, really pitched a clever game, holding the batting enemy to three meager singles and he stood the toilers on their heads from the drop of the hat.

The O'way lad was extremely effective outside of the fifth inning, when he lost control to run instant and filled the bases with a hit batter and two passes. He was never in danger of being scored upon. He recovered quickly and with fast support by his companions got the scoring batter and Stillwell was caught off third and run down for the final out.

The all-around playing of Sowards feature of the pastime. The lanky performer from Fullerton handling the chances at the shortfield with grace and his throwing was accurate as a rifle while he clipped off a couple of safe shots both doubles.

While the losers piled up four errors, only one figured in the scoring and the boots did not affect the result in any way as the choo-choo boys won strictly on their merits with runs to spare at the finish. It was quite a reversal of form displayed by the Wells gang which looked like a real ball club for the first time in many weeks.

Here's how it happened:

FIRST INNING
Wells was safe on Elliott's miff of R. Keyser's throw. Wells fanned. Wells went out stealing. J. Keyser muffed Cooper's fly. Thimmes struck out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

SECOND INNING
Woods fanned. Worthington walked. Sowards clipped a double to right center. Worthington going to third. Bending planted a single in right and Thimmes counted. Bending was caught stealing. Still to Cooper. Two runs, two hits, no errors.

THIRD INNING
Smith fouled. Wells' fly. Wells fouled to Elliott. Cooper flied to J. Keyser. Wells out stealing. Still to Cooper. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FOURTH INNING
Thimmes lined to Smith. Woods flied to Cooper. Worthington flied to Grinn. No runs, no hits, no errors.

FIFTH INNING
Sowards doubled to right. Fannin was called out on strikes and Bending fanned. Sowards out at third attempting to steal. No runs, one hit, no errors.

SIXTH INNING
Bauer singled to center. Wells flied to Smith. Cooper forced Bauer at second. Cooper to R. Keyser. Thimmes walked. Woods fanned. No runs, one hit, no errors.

SEVENTH INNING
Worthington planted a single in left. Frebis fouled Sowards' bunt and both runners were safe. Fannin bled out a roller to the box. Bending fanned. Bauer drove the herd in with a body triple to right and he scored on a wild pitch. Wells lined to Frebis. Cooper out, second to first. Four runs, three hits, one error.

EIGHTH INNING
Cooper flied to Bauer. Grinn walked. Sowards shot R. Keyser's rap in first ahead of the batter into Woods' glove. The ball. J. Keyser fanned for the final out. No runs, no hits, no errors.

NINE INNING
Sowards bled to right. Fannin was called out on strikes and Bending fanned. Sowards out at third attempting to steal. No runs, one hit, no errors.

TENTH INNING
Sowards bled to right. Fannin was called out on strikes and Bending fanned. Sowards out at third attempting to steal. No runs, one hit, no errors.

"WET" AND "DRY" SENTIMENT

THE poll of 10,000 voters on the question of prohibition, which is being made by the Literary Digest, has progressed far enough to present some interesting differences of opinion among the electorate regarding the operation of the eighteenth amendment to the constitution. The question is being put by the Digest in triangular form—whether the voter favors strict enforcement, modification of the Volstead law to permit light wines and beer or repeal of the amendment. So far slightly in excess of 200,000 votes have been received, the expression being 76,597 for strict enforcement, 85,151 for modification and 45,646 for repeal. The combination of repeal and modification sentiment as against the bone dry sentiment shows 130,797 to 75,597. The bone dry percentage is 34.28.

Should this ratio keep up to the termination of the poll, granting of course, that propagandists are prevented from forcing expression one way or the other, it would indicate a decided dissatisfaction with the present operation of prohibition by a majority of the people of the country. The wisdom of taking any such poll after instead of before the fact, so to speak, is being questioned in some quarters, and the ardent prohibition leaders are charging that even to seek expression of opinion regarding a modification of the prohibition amendment is an attack on the constitution itself. This is an extreme view, and the voicing thereof is likely to arouse opposition. Intolerance of contrary opinion will not put a quietus on such opinion. Whether recognized as an actual issue or not, the questions of enforcement and modification seem bound to stand as matters of popular discussion for some time to come.

New York-Day-By-Day
BY G. G. McNAUGHT

NEW YORK, July 27.—(By the Associated Press)—The Bowery is as enlivened as the thoroughfare's air of dissipation. Theatrical hopes rise and fall each Friday night and even up-town New York travels southward to see what are the most amusing, yet tragic, performances in the world of the theatre.

The Bowery goes to the amateur night with all the sturdiness of the first night Death Watch. They have got to be shown and sentiment finds no place among the audiences. If a spindly-legged girl in tawdry home-made costume sings "O, Sole Mio," and cracks on a high note, she is not spared "the hook," which the stage manager uses to yank failures into the oblivion of the wings.

"You'd better be good!" the Bowery shouts to the newcomer who may be a juggler, fire-eater or low comedian. And if he isn't good he is yanked with all sorts of missiles.

The other night a pathetic figure in clown make-up was struggling through a monologue. His knees had all the rigidity of a cup of custard and his voice could not be heard beyond the footlights.

"Louder," shouted a patron in the first row.

"Yes, and louder," boomed a leather-lunged voice in the gallery.

While booking agents attend the first nights, it is rare that they find an act that is worth booking over even the cheaper circuits. For the most part the amateur acts are young people who dream their frozen dreams of stage success—then return to their humble tasks.

Weber and Fields started their suspicious careers as amateur nighters and there are several other less conspicuous examples, but the great majority who have withstood the jibes and jeers have had only their brief moments before the spot-light and then the inevitable disillusionment.

The Social Register shows that 313 New Yorkers have yachted this summer. And it is whispered that the love of the bounding-wave is not altogether responsible for the increase over last summer. Many cellars are said to be going dry and—well, there are many interesting and strange-looking boats to be found beyond the three mile limit.

He is an unattached young bachelor with a flair for practical jokes. His friends decided to have their little joke. He was invited to a week-end house party at a magnificent estate near Oyster Bay. The hostess told him of a foreign motion picture star who was to be a guest. "A heart breaker," she confided. When the bachelor arrived he was not permitted to meet her until the next day. When he did he found her reclining on a leopard skin thrown over a chaise longue. Her hair was slicked back in the accepted vampire style. Drop ear-rings, ornamental snake head bracelets and clouget cigarette holder completed the

THE ARK IN THE HOUSE OF DAGON

THE Philistines brought the ark into Ashdod into the house of their idol Dagon and set it before Dagon. When they arose early in the morning they found their idol had fallen before the ark. They set Dagon in place again. The next morning Dagon had again fallen and the head and hands were off. The hand of God was heavy upon Ashdod and the men of Ashdod said the ark could not stay, so they sent it to Gath and there was great destruction, therefore they sent it to Ekron and the hand of God was heavy there.

Mose Jackson arrived in town with money in his pocket and a thirst more than casual in his throat. To a likely looking stranger he addressed himself.

"White folks, you know where I can get any of this here 'squirrel' licker?"

"No," said the stranger, "but I can let you have some Eagle Gin if you want that."

"No Suh," said Mose. "No Suh. Much obliged, but I don't want to fly. I jest want to hop round a little."

Mrs. New Street (emphatically)—Why, of course. I wouldn't be on that other kind of jury.—Chicago Journal.

County Treasury Enriched
The sum of $3000 was added to the strong box of the Scioto County treasury Thursday when that amount of cash, representing the forfeited bonds of E. R. Norman and William Curley was paid over.

The bonds were recently forfeited because Norman and Curley failed to appear before Judge Thomas in Common Pleas court for trial on charges in connection with the theft of liquor from the home of Jay S. Stevens, Mt. Joy, in Jan. 1920.

Transcript Filed
A transcript from the docket of the Municipal court in the case of Samuel Levi and Louis Levi against Elias Mershot, 1206 Union street, was filed in Common Pleas court Tuesday.

The plaintiffs brought a suit in attachment on a claim of $61, alleged to be due on an account for furniture and the case was heard in the lower court on a motion of the defense to dissolve the attachment on the ground that the alleged indebtedness was not necessary. Judge McCall made a finding that the motion was not well taken and now the case comes upon appeal by the defense represented by Attorney A. C. Woodrow, Attorney W. R. Sprague for the plaintiffs.

School Building Condemned
WELLSTON, O., July 27.—The State Industrial Commission after an inspection of the school building at Berlin, has condemned the building and directs that it not be further used for school purposes. The board of education will have to erect a new building and in the meantime secure the use of some other building in which to open the fall term of school.

Wagon Upsets; Driver Hurt

Warren Carter, driver for Harper and Ruel, contractors, had muscles torn loose in his back when he jumped from an overturning wagon while at work this morning about 8:30 on the Y road. He was driving a wagon loaded with dirt for the new paving job on the Y road when one of the wheels of the wagon slipped over a six foot embankment and turned the wagon over in a ditch. He jumped when he saw the wagon turning and probably saved himself from more serious injury.

Carter, who lives at 430 Fifth street, was removed to Schirman's hospital in an ambulance, where his injuries proved to be torn muscles in the back.

Good Samaritan Campaigner Finds Trouble

A Ford touring car owned by Judge Bellamy of Chillicothe and Tenth streets was slightly damaged and horses owned by L. B. Brown of Camp P. O. were injured slightly several days ago when the horses staged a runaway on the Rarden-Mt. Joy road. Judge Bellamy was in that section of the county conducting a campaign in the interest of his race for the Republican nomination for County Commissioner. He passed down a bank at the side of the road but did not turn over. The rear of the car was damaged and top torn.

wagon decided to help the man, probably thinking that thereby he would make a friend, who would be a sure vote for such an accommodating fellow. While the wheel of the wagon was being jammed up so the rim could be replaced, posted rolled off the wagon and struck the horses, causing them to run away. In their dash down the road the horses crashed into the Bellamy machine and caused it to start down hill. The car went down a bank at the side of the road but did not turn over. The rear of the car was damaged and top torn.

WOW! IT'S WARM

The wax models in the dry goods windows dropped their arms in awe and entirely blushed the window trimmers' idea of a catchy display today when the sun forgot to take Thursday afternoon off and favored us with 95 degrees. This is the hottest day of the year, being one degree hotter than the previous high mark of 97.

COLUMBUS, O., July 27.—(By the Associated Press)—Samuel Spero, 35, of Gloucester, is dead and more than half a dozen other persons are in local hospitals as a result of an automobile colliding with a railroad motor car at Canal Winchester, this morning. Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Burns, of Gloucester, and their son, John, who were with Spero, in the automobile, are among the injured. Names of others, workmen of the Toledo and Ohio Central railroad, all severely injured, have not been learned.

Two of the railroad employes, B. F. Baughman, superintendent of signals of the T. & O. C., and G. R. Nightweine, signalman, both of Columbus, suffered painful cuts and bruises and were removed to a hospital.

Mrs. Spero, wife of the dead man, arrived here today from Kansas City, where she had been visiting. Upon her arrival at the Union Station, she was informed of her husband's death while on the way to meet her.

Spero was proprietor of the Atlas Dry Goods Store at Gloucester.

Mr. Samuel Spero was in the dry goods business at Gloucester with Emanuel Atlas, a brother of Henry Atlas, of the Atlas Company of this city. Mr. Spero was a brother-in-law of Emanuel Atlas.

Word of the tragic accident which came over the wire was received by Mr. Atlas with great sorrow, as Mr. Spero and he were intimate friends.

At Jackson Fair
Dr. Joseph Lake, Dr. H. E. Hawk and Otto Jauffer were in Wellston today attending the Jackson County Fair.

Dance Was Success
The dance given by R. Tanner and Paul Melvin last night at the Auditorium was largely attended. Colored people were here from Ashland, Ironton and Chillicothe to attend. The Golden State Six orchestra furnished the music.

Judge Stephenson Here

Judge Will F. Stephenson of West Union, arrived in the city Thursday noon and on Friday he will occupy the Common Pleas bench at a short session of court during which he will dispose of a number of matters which he has had under advisement for some time.

This is the first visit of the genial Adams county jurist here in several months and he was warmly greeted today by his friends over town.

Colored Churches Picnic

The four colored churches and Sunday schools in the city enjoyed a big picnic held at Dugan's Grove at Lucasville, this afternoon. Members from the Beulah Baptist, Pleasant Green Baptist, Allen Chapel, and the Findlay Street M. E. formed the crowd of local colored people that went to the Lucasville fair grounds for the outing.

Building 17-Room Hotel

Property owned by C. W. G. Hannah on the south side of Ninth street just west of Waller street is being converted into a hotel by the owner. The new hotel will have seventeen sleeping rooms in addition to all modern conveniences. The two story frame building that contained a business room on the first floor and a flat upstairs will be converted into a restaurant and sleeping rooms. On the west is a two story frame dwelling, the rooms to be made into sleeping rooms. In front of this house an addition is being made to provide for a lobby and office. A four room addition is being built to the rear of the house and an eight room addition to the rear of the store room. The new hotel will be ready for business in about six weeks. Mr. Hannah is directing the work of renovation himself.

Raised All Kinds Of Row

County officers responded to a hurry call to North Moreland Wednesday night when it was claimed that a man named Clarence Warnock after tanking up on "moon" went on the warpath with a shotgun and threatened the lives of a number of neighbors including Mrs. Tom Brown, who complained to the officers.

The minions of the law on their arrival there conducted a vigorous search for the honky one but he had made himself scarce before the officers got there and he was nowhere to be found.
